

....BON VOYAGE....

Dedicated to the 604th Engineers by Miss Olive Williams of the "Y"

Two "Y" girls, we, condemned to roam,
We've followed you from near and far,
Now flitting here and sometimes there,
The 604th our guiding star.

Montigny, Rimaucourt, Le Mans,
We hope that we are nearing home,
When at last, in dirty Brest,
We're ditched beside the seething foam.

The jig is up, the beans are spilt,
We can not swim so far you see
So now we'll have to try our luck
With all our strong and big Navee.

But this we'll say perhaps, 'tis true,
In fact it is beyond a doubt
Our hearts are now so full of you,
We'll have to leave the Navy out.

So when the winds begin to blow
And "chuck" is dancing many a jig,
Just think you left us feeling low
And that our tears were very big.

The "Girls We Left Behind" presented this poem just as we were leaving Brest. We are sure the men of the regiment will appreciate the sentiment and good wishes.

SOLDIERS' MAIL

Soldiers aboard may mail all letters posted aboard ship with the usual "Soldier's Mail" in upper right hand corner. No postage until we disembark.

For side-splitting comedy, commend us to the first evening of a bunch of soldiers just introduced to the highly scientific Navy hammock. It is reported that Charlie Chaplin will make the next trip with the New Hampshire. If he does he will probably get an eyeful of original stuff for his new picture which might well have for its title that popular military command, "Fall Out!"

Cheer up fellows, they say the first two weeks are the hardest.

Don't laugh, your turn may come next.

Homeward bound but the patriotic spirit still exists as the men are giving up their all for their country.

Sergeant Olson lost everything he had including his pistol.

Sammy, the bugler, was so sick he was undecided whether to blow taps or sick call for himself.

Our old friend, the "red hots," served at mess Tuesday noon, recalled fond memories, reminding the boys of the days when they did calisthenics with one foot on the rail.

The Skipper has the soldiers wondering where he keeps the "smoking lamp."

Doesn't it seem a bit strange that the Headquarters of the Regiment should be located in the Hind-quarters of the ship?

Six Hundred and Fourth Engineers, one band, 25 pieces. Ship, one band, 14 pieces. Why not get together and "Toot Sweeter?"
